Best Practices

Best Practices are practical solutions to situations we have in the work place. Best practices are not only to make our work place safer, but to also make us more efficient. Best practices are not meant to be kept as a secret, but to share these ideas to make Olympic better than the other drywall/plastering companies. We've included a few "best practice" photos on the backside of this sheet that Sturg has seen on jobsites recently. If you have any ideas that you think can make us better, here is your time to shine! Submit photos of your projects BEST PRACTICES that are being used on your jobsite for a chance to win a Jimmy John's lunch for your crew!

Last week's Bonus Question:

What was the topic of last week's payroll insert?

Answer: Send in photos of "Why Do I Work Safe"
